DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination

1. The request filed on 19 May 2003 for a request for Continued Examination (RCE) under 37 CFR 1.53(d) based on parent Application No. 09/785,423 is acceptable and a RCE has been established. An action on the RCE follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claims 1, 5 and 7, the limitation "a first depression on first side of the tape carrier package and a second depression on a second side of the tape package opposite the first side" is not described in the specification in such away as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3728

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chenoweth (6,076,681) in view of Hashimoto (6,297,964). Chenoweth '681 discloses a tape carrier package film for electronic components, comprising: a tape carrier package part (plastic strip 10) having a mounting portion for a driving integrated circuit, wherein the tape carrier part is defined by a depression (11) on the package film, a peripheral part having a plurality of sprocket holes (31, 32) and a plurality of punching holes (51, 52, 53, 54), said punching holes will inherently reduce connection between the tape carrier package part and the peripheral part. See Figure 3 embodiment. Chenoweth is silent about whether the tape carrier package is a package film. Hashimoto '964 is cited merely as an example that it is old and conventional to make tape carrier packages from package film. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tape carrier package of Chenoweth '681 from package film as taught by Hashimoto '964, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

With respect to claims 4, 8, 10 and 11, see the supporter (44) between triangular punching holes (51) and (52) and supporter (45) between triangular punching holes (53) and (54) in Figure 5 embodiment.

With respect to claims 2, 6 and 7 and the shape and location of the punching holes, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the shape and location of the punching holes, since applicant has not disclosed that changing the shape of the punching holes solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with any punching hole.

The punching holes (51, 52, 53 and 54) of Chenoweth `681 will inherently reduce connection between the tape carrier package part and the peripheral part and will inherently assist in separation of the tape carrier package part from the peripheral part.

6. Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Honda `370 in view of Hashimoto `964. Honda `370 discloses a tape carrier package film ( synthetic resin carrier tape 30`) for electronic components, comprising: a tape carrier package part having a mounting portion for a driving integrated circuit, wherein the tape carrier part is defined by a depression (recess 34`) on the package film , a peripheral part having a plurality of sprocket holes (36`); and a plurality of punching holes (34b`) which inherently reduce connection between the tape carrier package part and the peripheral part. See Figure 4 embodiment. Honda `370 is silent about whether the tape carrier package is a package film. Hashimoto `964 is cited merely as an example that it is old and conventional to make tape carrier packages from package film. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tape carrier package of Honda `370 from package film as taught by Hashimoto `964, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Art Unit: 3728

With respect to claims 4, 10 and 11, see the supporter between elongated punching holes (34b`) in Figure 4 embodiment.

With respect to claims 2, 6 and 7 and the shape and location of the punching holes, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the shape and location of the punching holes, since applicant has not disclosed that changing the shape of the punching holes solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with any punching hole.

With respect to claims 15-17, see column 3, lines 32-34.

The punching holes (34 b') of Honda `370 will inherently reduce connection between the tape carrier package part and the peripheral part and will inherently assist in separation of the tape carrier package part from the peripheral part.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Shown are tape carrier packages analogous to applicant's instant invention.

8. Telephone inquiries regarding the status of application or other general questions, by persons entitled to the information "should be directed to the group clerical personnel and not to the Examiners. In as much as the official records and applications are located in the clerical section of the examining groups, the clerical personnel can readily provide status information without contacting the examiners", M.P.E.P. 203.08. The Group clerical receptionist number is (703) 308-1148 or the Tech Center 3700 Customer Service Center number is (703) 306-5648. For applicant's
